TARIFF PROVISIONS

STORAGE, INSURANCE, DAMAGE, LOSS

Storage charges will begin on receiving date as indicated on the electronic warehouse receipt. Storage charges will stop the date complete shipping instructions and electronic warehouse receipts are received in the Lubbock office, or agreed-upon load date, whichever is later. Shipments which cannot be loaded for reasons not controlled by Farmers Coop Compress will be charged storage until loaded. For any shipment not loaded within two (2) days after the agreed-upon load date, additional storage will be charged at the rate of 25¢ per bale per day beginning the third day following the agreed-upon load date until loaded.

An "All Risks" insurance policy is carried by Farmers to cover each bale of cotton represented by each electronic warehouse receipt issued. The insurance is for the market value of each bale at the time and place loss occurs and covers fire and other perils including the following: sprinkler malfunction, fire, lightning, wind storm, cyclone, tornado, hurricane, flood including influx or rising water (whether wind driven or not) or inherent explosion and other risk (whether an act of God or force of majeure). Market value of each bale is based on the nearest applicable USDA Spot Market Quotations for the location where the loss occurs at the time and place of loss. In the event of no USDA Spot Quotation on the date of the loss, the quotation of the Market on the date next following the loss will be used. Coverage automatically attaches as soon as a bale is placed in the warehouse operator's custody and whether or not a receipt is issued coverage remains in effect so long as the bale remains in the warehouse operator's legal custody.

Customary exclusions include, but are not limited to, delay, inherent vice, war risk, terrorism, and loss or damage resulting from nuclear reaction, nuclear radiation or nuclear radioactive and/or contamination arising from biological and chemical agents. Direct loss or damage by fire resulting from nuclear reaction is covered. For additional information regarding the insurance policy please contact us.

Growers, shippers, or other persons who have cotton stored have the responsibility to obtain additional insurance to cover contract for sale valuation (prices higher than market value or the difference between contracted prices and market values) and/or for perils other than enumerated herein such as acts of civil or military authority, invasion, insurrection, federal government, nuclear incident, reaction or radiation, radioactive contamination, public enemy, war or any other events beyond our control.

This company reserves the right to deduct from any payment all applicable accrued and/or incurred charges such as receiving, storage, and compression.

Reasonable effort will be made to detect and report to owners visible damages to cotton being handled and stored. Claims of damage to cotton shipped will not be considered when notice of the alleged damage and inspection by Farmers is not allowed before repairs or reconditioning is done.

Farmers is not responsible for invisible damage, inherent or latent defects, lint qualities or values, contaminates within bales, or losses in weight other than from its own errors in weighing.

DELIVERY

Cotton growers own and operate Farmers to enhance marketing of cotton produced on their farms. Their policy requires timely and orderly delivery of shipments.

Due to the physical nature of ranging and breaking-out a period of time determined by the number of bales on prior orders, weather conditions, and available labor will be necessary for delivery of each shipment. Ranging efficiency can be greatly improved if the locator ID is factored in when selecting bales for each shipment.

Separate shipping orders for each plant are accepted in writing or electronically (EWR) with bale numbers in numerical sequence with complete instructions. Bales delivered will match electronic warehouse receipt surrendered. Orders should include number of bales, marks, names of carriers, destinations, and other instructions necessary. Securing transportation is solely and exclusively the responsibility of the shipper.

Each shipping order should include a genuine loading date for orderly delivery. Farmers will make every effort to meet genuine loading dates as scheduled on our website, www.farmerscompress.com.

A website scheduling tool is available for providing shipping information. Call Steven or Albert for details.

Farmers has adopted the cotton shipping standards of the CSA agreement as recommended by the CGWA, the national service organization for cooperative cotton warehouses.

COMPRESSION

Cotton stored at Farmers is delivered universal density. Bales compressed universal density at gins are identified in warehouse receipts as (5) GUD; Universal density compression performed by gins is purchased by Farmers and will be billed to shippers at the rate in this tariff.

SAMPLING

Numerical order of bale numbers is required. Owners' signatures are required before loan or CCC cotton can be sampled. Sample orders submitted electronically are encouraged. Contact Farmer's office for details. Orders will be filled in the same sequence they are received. Stored samples are no longer available. All sampling and will be performed and billed under tariff item 6. Please allow adequate time for bales to be unstored, sampled, and restored.

ELECTRONIC WAREHOUSE RECEIPT SYSTEM (EWR)

Farmers has entered into agreements with EWR, Inc., cooperative gins and U.S. Department of Agriculture (FSA). Electronic warehouse receipts will be issued to the owners of the cotton. Title to bales covered by electronic warehouse receipts will be maintained by computers at Farmers and EWR, Inc.

EWR saves time and expense in shipping cotton. ANY SHIPPER may participate by executing an EWR Agreement with EWR, Inc.

WAREHOUSE RECEIPT WORDING

All warehouse receipts covering cotton stored by Farmers are issued with the following language:

NEGOTIABLE INSURED WAREHOUSE FOR ONE BALE COTTON

RECEIVED on account of: _____

ONE BALE OF COTTON (the Bale) described herein to be delivered to bearer upon return of this receipt and the payment of all warehousing fees and charges applicable to the Bale which are due the undersigned Association as warehouseman. The Bale is insured for the full market value thereof against loss or damage by fire and lightning under a Standard Form of Fire Insurance Policy approved for cotton warehouses in the State in which the warehouse is located. The association, on behalf of its producer member-patron who delivered the Bale to the warehouse, claims a lien on the Bale represented by this receipt against the holder of this receipt for sales proceeds in the amount of all lawful charges for storage, compression, transportation, insurance, labor or other charges, present or future incurred in relation to the Bale at the rate of the Association's tariff and for expenses necessary for its preservation or reasonably incurred and its sale pursuant to law. By negotiation or transfer of this receipt all sellers and all buyers agree that the amount of all charges incurred which are due or become due to the Association are payable to it as a sale proceeds collected on behalf of its producer member-patrons to be distributed to them after the deduction of marketing expenses under the terms and conditions of their marketing agreement and bylaws of the Association. If the Bale is pledged to secure a loan with the Commodity Credit Corporation and not redeemed prior to the acquisition by CCC, the foregoing lien is for those services and rates stated on the current Schedule of Rates in the Association's Storage Agreement with the CCC.

LIEN AND PAYMENT OF CHARGES

A Warehouseman's lien is claimed by Farmers on the cotton for all warehouse service fees applicable under this tariff and pursuant to warehouse receipt for liens under Sections 7.209(a) & (b) of UCC of Texas. The fees are payable to Farmers at its office in Lubbock, Texas, when delivery and related services are ordered.

Shippers will be invoiced for fees as services are ordered. Payment must be received at Farmers office within seven days from the date of each invoice. When payments for invoices are not received within seven days subsequent orders will not be delivered until warehouse fees are paid.

The party ordering cotton shipped is responsible for all fees for services. If it is necessary to turn over a bill to an attorney for collection, the attorney's fees will be added to the bill.

COLLECTIONS

Farmers is using its office, without charge, in the collection of fees pledged by producers to programs administered by Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Program, 1.00 per bale and Plains Cotton Improvement Program, .10 per bale. These fees, payable at the time receiving charges are paid, do not represent income to Farmers Cooperative Compress.

The Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation of West Texas Maintenance Area maintenance fee has been charged against this cotton. For details regarding same, see www.txbollweevil.org, or call the Foundation at 800. 687. 1212.
